point of view

“You can hide things behind veils and ruffles, but if you’re aiming for simplicity, the truth always comes out.”

—William Haines

This picture of a fifties house decorated by William Haines, taken by famed Los Angeles photographer Julius Shulman, appears in Peter Schifando and Jean H. Mathison's upcoming Class Act (Pointed Leaf Press, $95). The book showcases the work of Haines, a matinee idol in the twenties and thirties who enjoyed even greater celebrity as an interior designer—clients included his friends Joan Crawford and Carole Lombard.
